To Whom It May Concern:

AMC has successfully contracted for many years with Commercial Metal Building Services and the results have always exceeded our expectations. Commercial Metal Building Services is not only one of our most reliable subcontractors, but they bring extensive experience and skills to our projects.

During the construction process there are often many plan revisions and schedule changes that a subcontractor must adhere to, and Commercial Metal Building Services has consistently cooperated with AMC personnel on site to get the job done.

I personally recommend Commercial Metal Building Services as an asset to the construction industry.

Sincerely,
